The changes being proposed to the effective date from 30 May 2023 to 1 November 2023 necessitate changes to AEMO's Retail Electricity Market Procedures. Noting, AEMO will consolidate procedures in the second half of 2023, which will include those changes impacted by the Consumer Data Right reform.

2. Questions on proposed changes

Questions	Participant Comments
Does your organisation agree with the proposed change to the effective date?	Deferring the change to 1 November presents a risk to Jemena in that we will no longer have access to planned or budgeted project team for a Q4 industry testing. Jemena had plans to test this change as part of the current bilateral testing cycles with industry participants.
Does your organisation have an alternative proposal for implementation?	Jemena proposes additional testing options that can take place during the May industry testing to reduce any residual risk e.g. activation of 1 st Nov functionality for a short period in pre-prod to validate end to end testing and/or populated examples of scenarios.
